EMERY N. BROWN, M.D., Ph.D.

Computational Neuroscientist and Anesthesiologist

The Candidate Will Be Presented by Vice Chair Mark Mason

Emery N. Brown, M.D., Ph.D., is the Edward Hood Taplin Professor of Medical Engineering, Professor of Health Sciences and Technology and Professor of Computational Neuroscience at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT); the Warren M. Zapol Professor of Anesthesia at Harvard Medical School; and an anesthesiologist at Massachusetts General Hospital (MGH).

Professor Brown was born and grew up in Ocala, Florida along with his two older siblings Benjamin and Stephen. His parents, Benjamin and Alberta Brown, were high school mathematics teachers. Through sixth grade he attended the segregated Fessenden Elementary School. Brown graduated high school from the Phillips Exeter Academy in Exeter, NH, where he spent the second semester of his senior year studying Spanish in the School Year Abroad Program in Barcelona, Spain.

Brown received his B.A. in Applied Mathematics (magna cum laude) from Harvard College. He next studied mathematics for a year as an International Rotary Fellow at the Fourier Institute in Grenoble, France. After returning from France, Brown obtained his M.A. and Ph.D. in statistics from Harvard University and his M.D. (magna cum laude) from Harvard Medical School. Brown completed his internal medicine internship at the Brigham and Women's Hospital, his anesthesiology residency at MGH, and thereafter, joined the MGH Department of Anesthesia.

At the outset of his career, Brown focused his research on statistical methods to characterize the properties of the human circadian (biological) clock. Most notably, he derived an analytic formula to measure accurately the error in the period of the human circadian clock estimated from core temperature measurements recorded during a forced desynchrony protocol. Brown's error analysis was critical for demonstrating that the intrinsic period of the human circadian clock was, like that of other species, closer to 24 rather than 25 hours. He developed a statistical model to analyze how light shifts the phase of the human circadian clock depending on when during the circadian cycle the light is administered. Brown later used his statistical skills to measure the efficacy of shift work schedules designed using circadian physiology.

In the second phase of his career, Brown developed statistical techniques and signal processing methods to analyze data collected in neuroscience experiments. He introduced state-space methods for point processes. These were for point processes the analog of the Kalman filter used in engineering for continuous-valued measurements. He used the methods to "read a rat's mind," i.e., precisely locate a rat's position in space by decoding the neural activity in the animal's hippocampus (short-term memory center).

Brown later used the methods: to characterize neural and behavioral activity in learning experiments; define loss and recovery of consciousness in human anesthesia studies; and implement a closed loop system for controlling medically-induced coma in a rodent model.

For the last 20 years, Brown has focused his research on understanding the neurophysiology of general anesthesia. His work has revealed that general anesthesia is not sleep but rather a pharmacologically-mediated, reversible coma. Indeed, a patient must be in a coma to tolerate the trauma of surgery. Brown's research has shown that during anesthesia the brain is not turned off. Rather, the anesthetic agents produce highly structured, typically low frequency, high amplitude oscillatory brain waves that disrupt communication among brain regions. These oscillations change systematically with anesthetic dose, anesthetic class, patient age and patient state of health. Brown has shown that electroencephalogram-based brain monitoring can be used to track these oscillations in real-time and guide anesthetic dosing during surgery. He has demonstrated that these oscillations can be used as a control signal for automated, closed loop anesthesia administration.

Brown's research has been featured in the New York Times, Scientific American, MIT Technology Review, TED MED and on National Public Radio.

Brown served on President Obama's Brain Initiative Working Group. He currently serves on the Boards of Trustees of the Simons Foundation and the Guggenheim Foundation, the Board of Directors of Humacyte, the Editorial Board of the New England Journal of Medicine and the Scientific Advisory Board of the Neuroscience Program for the Tatiana Foundation.

Brown's accomplishments have been widely recognized. He is a fellow of the IEEE, American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Academy of Arts Sciences, and National Academy of Inventors. He is also a member of the American Philosophical Society. Brown is the first African American elected to all three National Academies: Medicine, Sciences, and Engineering.

Brown has received an NIH Director's Pioneer Award, a Guggenheim Fellowship in Applied Mathematics, the American Society of Anesthesiologists Excellence in Research Award, the Swartz Prize for Theoretical and Computational Neuroscience, the Pierre Galletti Prize, the Gruber Prize in Neuroscience, and Doctors of Science Honoris Causa from the University of Southern California and the State University of New York Downstate. At a White House ceremony, Brown received the 2024 National Medal of Science.

For the Degree of Doctor of Laws

BARBARA LEE

U.S. Representative, 13th District of California (retired)

Mayor-elect, Oakland, California

The Candidate Will Be Presented by Vice Chair Leslie Hale

The Honorable Barbara Lee is the first Black woman to represent northern California in the state legislature and the U.S. Congress, where she served for nearly 40 years and chaired the Congressional Black Caucus; Congressional Task Force on Poverty, Income Inequality and Opportunity; and Congressional Social Work Caucus, among other leadership posts. In 2025, she became mayor-elect for Oakland, California.

Lee has spent a lifetime fighting for justice and opportunity, bringing unquestionable results to the people and communities she has represented. Her leadership has always been rooted in the needs of the community. She understands the people she has served because she has lived their struggles from poverty and homelessness to lack of affordable childcare and health care.

While in Congress, Lee secured billions of dollars to improve Oakland's neighborhoods and quality of life. She secured funding for police officers and firefighters, delivered $15.8 million for community safety programs, $70.8 million for safer and greener streets, $87.3 million to uplift small businesses, and $400 million to expand and green the Port of Oakland.

Lee's decades-long career as a public servant and advocate, fighting for civil rights and the needs of the community, can be traced back to her early school days when she worked with the NAACP to integrate her high school's cheerleading team. Her advocacy continued when she served as president of the Black Student Union at Mills College. During that time, she invited Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm to the campus, inspiring Lee to register to vote for the first time. She went on to work on Chisholm's historic presidential campaign and served as one of her delegates at the Democratic National Convention in 1972.

Lee's career in Congress began as an intern and progressed to chief of staff for U.S. Representative Ronald V. Dellums of California, 1975-1987. At the state level, she was elected to the California assembly, 1991-1997, and then the California state senate, 1997-1998. By special election, Lee was elected as a Democrat to Congress, filling a vacancy caused by the resignation of Congressman Dellums. She was reelected to 13 succeeding Congresses (1998-2025).

One of her key moments in Congress was casting the sole "no" vote to give the president unlimited war powers after 9/11, unafraid to stand up for accountability and justice. Her unflinching courage and principled leadership showcase her tenacity to tackle the toughest challenges and put people first.

Born in El Paso, Texas, Lee moved with her family to California, where she graduated from San Fernando High School. While a single mother of two children, she earned a B.A. from Mills College in Oakland and a master's degree in social work from the University of California, Berkeley.

Lee is recipient of the 43rd Thomas Merton Award, the Courage of Conscience Award presented by the Peace Abbey in Boston and was recognized as a Woman of Peace at the Global Exchange Human Rights Awards in San Francisco (2002). She appeared in the documentary film Food Stamped and contributed to Enitan Bereola II's bestselling book Gentlewoman: Etiquette for a Lady, from a Gentleman. She is an honorary member of Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority.

For the Degree of Doctor of Laws
LILIAN SEENOI BARR
Mayor, Derry City and Strabane District Council
Northern Ireland, United Kingdom
The Candidate Will Be Presented by Trustee Godfrey Gill

The Honorable Lilian Seeno Barr is a Kenyan-born political and community leader whose life has been defined by a deep commitment to justice, equality and human rights. Born and raised in Kenya, she witnessed firsthand the challenges facing women, girls and marginalized communities, an experience that ignited her passion for advocacy and change.

In her late twenties, Seeno Barr made the bold decision to move to Derry/Londonderry, bringing with her a relentless determination to build a more inclusive and equitable society. As the founder and chief executive officer of the North West Migrants Forum, she has been at the forefront of championing the rights of migrants and minoritized communities, shaping policies and developing programs to tackle racial discrimination, promote social inclusion and foster community cohesion.

Seeno Barr's transition into politics was a natural extension of her activism. Joining the Social Democratic and Labour Party (SDLP), she quickly became a rising force within the party, serving as Chair of the Derry SDLP District Executive. In 2021, she was co-opted onto the Derry City and Strabane District Council, marking a historic milestone in her journey. Just two years later, she secured her seat as an SDLP Councillor for the Foyleside District Electoral Area, becoming the first Black elected representative in Northern Ireland and an inspiring figure of hope for many.

Beyond politics, Seeno Barr remains deeply engaged in grassroots activism, leading transformative campaigns on racial justice, women's health, housing, young people's leadership and empowerment, and the nighttime economy. She is passionate about creating opportunities for the next generation to grow, thrive and lead. Through mentorship, advocacy and initiatives that amplify youth voices, she is shaping a future where young leaders are not just participants but prominent change makers.

Her leadership is not just about policies, it is about people, ensuring that every voice is heard, and every individual can thrive.

Seeno Barr's work has been recognized with numerous awards and honors, yet her true reward lies in the impact she creates every day. As Mayor of Derry City and Strabane District, she is committed to leading with hope, accessibility and a vision for a more inclusive and prosperous future. She believes that this is our time, a time to build a city and district where everyone belongs and has the opportunity to succeed.

Dedicated to giving back, she has chosen BUD Club as her Charity of the Year, vowing to raise awareness and support for its vital work during her term in the Guildhall.

Seeno Barr's journey is a testament to the power of resilience, courage and unwavering belief in a better future. She is not just a politician, she is a changemaker, a bridge-builder and an inspiration to all who dream of making a difference.

For the Degree of Doctor of Humane Letters
LEVAR BURTON
Award-winning Actor, Director, Composer, Author
The Candidate Will Be Presented by Dr. Laurence C. Morse

LeVar Burton launched his acting career while still a student at the University of Southern California. At 19, he found himself on the cover of Time Magazine, after landing the groundbreaking role of Kunta Kinte in the landmark television series Roots. A seemingly impossible act to follow, Burton achieved further global acclaim as Chief Engineer Geordi La Forge in the iconic Star Trek: The Next Generation television series, a role he reprised in Star Trek: Picard in 2023.

His role as host and executive producer of the beloved PBS children's series Reading Rainbow is the one of which he is most proud. Airing from 1983 to 2009, Reading Rainbow was not only one of the longest-running children's television shows in history, but also one of the most acclaimed, earning more than 200 awards including multiple Emmys and a Peabody.

As a lifelong literacy advocate, Burton has dedicated decades to encouraging children to read. In 2017, long-standing literacy nonprofit, Reading is Fundamental, acquired Burton's Skybrary reading app to provide access to millions of children both at home and at school. In 2023, Burton premiered his first documentary, The Right to Read, a film that positions the literacy crisis in America as a civil rights issue. The Right to Read was an official selection at the Santa Barbara International Film Festival and SXSW EDU. Butterfly in the Sky, a documentary about the making of Reading Rainbow, which centers on the contributions of Burton and the other creators of the show, is currently streaming on Netflix and other streaming services.

Most recently, Burton launched LeVar Burton Entertainment (LBE) with a mission to create content that fosters empathy, champions diversity and builds community. Under this banner, Burton develops projects in the film, television, podcasting and publishing space. Now in its 12th season, the enormously popular LeVar Burton Reads podcast has more than 175 episodes in its catalog, boasting 25 million downloads. LBE's most recent podcast, Sound Detectives, premiered number one on the Kids & Family charts.

Burton continued to exercise his passion for storytelling as the award-winning author of Aftermath, The Rhino who Swallowed a Storm and A Kids Book About Imagination. A modern-day griot, Burton launched his first book club with Fable, a digital book club community. In his partnership with MasterClass, Burton shared the power of storytelling by offering insights into his own life and the importance of authenticity and dynamic expression.

As the honored recipient of seven NAACP Awards, a Peabody, a Grammy and 15 Emmys, including a Lifetime Achievement Award at the Inaugural Children's & Family Emmys, Burton has demonstrated that he can do it all. He is often invited as a keynote speaker at leading education and technology events, including NASA, ISTE, The National Education Association, FAST COMPANY's Innovation Series and many more. In 2022, Burton was selected as the Tournament Of Roses Grand Marshal, ushering in the new year with the theme "Dream. Believe. Achieve."

With more than four million social media followers, a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame and a dedicated park in his hometown of Sacramento, this pop culture icon has the unique ability to reach across all ages, ethnicities and socioeconomic groups—communicating to a large fan base that is highly engaged and motivated to embrace his message.

THE CONFERRING OF DEGREES IN COURSE

The order of presentation of Schools and Colleges for the conferring of degrees is based on two factors—the year of establishment of the School or College and the distinction between graduate/professional and undergraduate programs. The first six Schools and Colleges, beginning with the College of Arts and Sciences and ending with the College of Nursing and Allied Health Sciences, were established between the years 1868 to 1974. Undergraduate programs are predominant in these six Schools and Colleges. The next six Schools and Colleges, beginning with the College of Medicine and ending with the School of Social Work, were established between the years 1868 and 1945. These Schools and Colleges offer professional graduate level programs. The last School listed, the Graduate School, was established in 1934 and offers graduate-level programs exclusively.

The appearance of a name in this Program is presumptive evidence of graduation, but it must not in any sense be regarded as conclusive. The diploma of the University, signed and sealed by its proper officers, remains the official testimony of the possession of the degree. THE ALMA MATER

Reared against the eastern sky
Proudly there on hilltop high,
Far above the lake so blue
Stands old Howard firm and true.
There she stands for truth and right,
Sending forth her rays of light,
Clad in robes of majesty;
O Howard, we sing of thee.

Be thou still our guide and stay,
Leading us from day to day;
Make us true and leal and strong,
Ever bold to battle wrong.
When from thee we've gone away,
May we strive for thee each day
As we sail life's rugged sea,
O Howard, we'll sing of thee.

THE PLEDGE

I am a graduate of Howard University.
I am the bearer of the flame of a Howard University education that has brought light to many generations.
It is through the indelible love
and support of my family,
and the courage and sacrifices of my ancestors
that I am here today.
I accept the historic trust of their gifts and pledge to lift others who come after me.

Howard University is my home.
No matter how far I travel from her,
no matter how long I am absent from her,
Howard University is always here for me.
I am defined by the privilege of a Howard University education.
I cannot fail in life; leadership, service, and the search for truth and right will light my way.
My potential contributions to humankind are unlimited,
and I will give them freely and in abundance.

I am a Howard University graduate.
The opportunity of the Howard University experience has conveyed to me a responsibility to assure the strength of this great University.
It is only through my support that the Capstone

THE MACE

THE MACE is the ceremonial symbol of the University and is carried by the University Marshal. One of the earliest visual images of the mace is the front-side of the “Narmer Palette” of Ancient Egypt, an oval-shaped cosmetic palette inscribed with human and anthropomorphic figures. King Narmer is depicted on the palette as a mighty conqueror wielding a mace over a symbolic enemy. King Narmer, also known as King Menes or King Midas to the ancient Greeks, unified Upper and Lower Egypt circa 3100 B.C., ushering in the great pyramid building of the old kingdom dynasties (c. 3000-2150 B.C.) of Imperial Egypt. At today’s Convocation, the entry of the mace heralds the arrival of the academic procession.

THE BATON

THE BATON carried by the Marshals and Assistant Marshals of each School is being used to lead the academic procession of the respective Schools and Colleges into and out of the place of the ceremony. The batons are made of wood, painted blue, and tied with red, white and blue ribbons denoting the colors of Howard University.

THE ACADEMIC DRESS

THE CAP, GOWN, AND HOOD worn at college and university functions date back to the Middle Ages. Monks and students used them to keep warm in medieval castles and halls of learning. From these practical origins, they have developed into the accepted garb which symbolizes scholarly achievement.

Baccalaureate gowns have a long pleated front with shirring across the shoulders and back. They are primarily distinguished by flowing sleeves, pointed at the fingertips. These gowns may be worn either open or closed.

The Master’s degree gown is worn open, and the sleeve is cut so that the forearm comes through a slit just above the elbow.

Gowns for the Doctorate degree are also worn open. They carry broad, velvet panels down the front, and three velvet bars on the full, round sleeves. This velvet trimming may be either black or the color distinctive of the degree.

Mortar board or caps worn with Baccalaureate and Master’s gowns generally have black tassels. The tassel of the doctoral cap is usually made of gold bullion.

The blue Kente stole worn by the graduates was commissioned for the 1996 Commencement by the University and produced in Ghana. The stole depicts the Nkasewa pattern, which means eloquence, wisdom, and intelligence, and the symbol, Fi-Hankra, means safety, security, brotherhood, and solidarity.

Faculty members and guests in today’s procession are robed in gowns and hoods which represent the institutions from which they have received degrees.

The hood gives color and real meaning to the academic costume. Its silk lining bears the colors of the institution conferring the degree. The hood is bordered with velvet of prescribed width and color to indicate the field of learning to which the degree pertains as follows: medicine, green; music, pink; nursing, apricot; pharmacy, olive green; public administration, peacock blue; science, gold yellow; social work, citron; theology, scarlet; architecture, blue violet; arts, letters, and humanities, white; business, drab; dentistry, lilac; education, light blue; engineering, orange; fine arts, brown; law, purple; and philosophy, dark blue.

Lift Every Voice and Sing

Lift every voice and sing,
Till earth and heaven ring,
Ring with the harmonies of Liberty;
Let our rejoicing rise,
High as the listening skies.
Let it resound loud as the rolling sea.
Sing a song full of the faith that the dark past has taught us,
Sing a song full of the hope that the present has brought us;
Facing the rising sun of our new day begun,
Let us march on till victory is won.

Stony the road we trod, bitter the chastening rod,
Felt in the days when hope unborn had died;
Yet with a steady beat, have not our weary feet,
Come to the place for which our fathers sighed?
We have come over a way that with tears has been watered,
We have come, treading our path through the blood of the slaughtered;
Out from the gloomy past, till now we stand at last
Where the white gleam of our bright star is cast.

God of our weary years, God of our silent tears,
Thou Who has brought us thus far on the way;
Thou Who has by Thy might, led us into the light,
Keep us forever in the path, we pray.
Lest our feet stray from the places, our God, where we met Thee,
Lest our hearts, drunk with the wine of the world, we forget Thee,
Shadowed beneath Thy hand,
May we forever stand,
True to our God,
True to our native land.

— James Weldon Johnson (1900)
